

Senior Games torch relay visits Elk Point

Elk Point welcomed the Alberta Senior Games torch and its cavalcade of relay bearers late Saturday afternoon, as they headed into the home stretch of their journey from Lacombe to St. Paul, where the Games will start today.

More than two dozen torch bearers, including MLA Paul Langevin and the mayors of Elk Point and St. Paul, took part in the 2.2 km relay led by the RCMP. Alberta Senior Citizens Recreation Association representative carried the torch for the final distance, handing it over to Pioneer Circle past president Lillian Palinka, who lit the mini-cauldron adjacent to an outdoor stage at the Seniors Recreation Centre.

Mayor Ed Buck, serving as MC, welcomed the torch bearers and their support crew, and congratulated St. Paul on their hosting of the Senior Games. "Elk Point feels great to be part of this," he commented, thanking Sid Holthe, Mrs. Palinka and the Pioneer Circle for spearheading the local involvement.

MLA Langevin brought greetings from Premier Klein and the provincial government, whom he said are "very committed to the Senior Games." He praised the "tremendous amount of volunteerism," which sees many other communities besides St. Paul involved in the Games.

Mrs. Palinka praised the torch bearers, and said it was "good to see so many seniors turn out, full of pep and zest."

St. Paul Mayor John Trefanenko told the audience that over 600 volunteers have been working on the games over the past two years, and that hosting the games during St. Paul's Centennial year "brings back the volunteer spirit" of the pioneer days.

Joe Tredger spoke on behalf of Elk Point Gas, corporate sponsors of the dinner which followed the torch relay. He commented that Elk Point Gas will "soon be seniors themselves," having served the community almost 50 years. He reminded Games participants that "winning is really nice, but having fun is the best part of the game."

Senior Games chairman Paul Boisvert told the group that work on the Games began in October 1993 when the bid was put together, and has continued ever since. "A multitude of volunteers have been diligent, putting in a tremendous amount of effort for an event which will long be remembered."

Mary Kossey brought greetings from ASCRA, and said "the spirit of the flame and Games is with all of us."

LET THE GAMES BEGIN! The Alberta Senior Games Torch Relay came to Elk Point on Saturday, with Lillian Palinka assisted by Ken Peacock of Northwestern Utilities in lighting the ceremonial flame, which will be carried on to St. Paul in time for the games to start on July 16. Best of luck to our local competitors, and to their worthy hosts.

Health Councils designated

Smoky Lake - Membership of six Community Health Councils recently established in the Lakeland Health Region has been announced. "We are extremely pleased that these individuals have volunteered to work with us," said Rosemary Seaman, Coordinator, Community Health Councils.

Each Council will provide an additional two-way communications conduit between communities and the Lakeland Regional Health Authorities Board. Five geographical Councils and a sixth Council representing the four Metis settlements located in the region have been established.

Elk Point is part of CHC-4, which covers Cold Lake, Bonnyville, Glendon, Elk Point, Grand Centre and all communities within, and consists of Dr. Jonathan Adams, Levina Ewasiuk, Melvin McGinnis and Carol Maas of Elk Point, Walter Saranchuk of Lindbergh, George Sanders of Heinsburg, Ian Campbell of Hoselaw, Tammy Helhum of Glendon, Major D.W. Tolley of Cherry Grove, Eva Urlacher of Grand Centre and Kathryn Wiebe of Bonnyville.

Susan Durocher, Carmen Fayant and Bonnie Lehr of Fishing Lake are part of CHC-6, which covers the four Metis settlements in the region.

Town designates area for memorial trees

Elk Point residents wishing to remember departed friends and relatives with a memorial tree will now have a place to plant them. Following a lengthy discussion at the July 8 meeting of Council, it was decided that no further memorial trees would be located in the town's parks, as some Council members felt this was not an appropriate site, and increased the amount of time required to take care of the park. Trees also might not survive, and the Town would not wish to take responsibility for replanting in that case.

Suggestions that cement and steel items, such as park benches, be dedicated in memory of loved ones, and that memorial plaques be affixed to the railing in front of the mural, were discussed but did not find much favor, although it was noted that the Town could charge a service fee for allowing the installation.

Earlier in the meeting, Council had discussed fencing their property adjacent to the current East Cemetery for expansion purposes. The perimeter of the new development would be a good location for the planting of memorial trees, Council agreed, provided they were of a size and variety approved by the Town. However, it was agreed that dedication plaques accompanying the trees would not be allowed.

Council entertained two delegations at the meeting. The first was from Berjim Enterprises, and dealt with the location of ice which blocked a water service during the winter, and the fee assessed by the Town for the thawing of same. Council agreed with a Public Works committee recommendation to leave the bill as it was.

The second delegation was from Alberta Permit Pro, a business which is authorized by Alberta Labor to perform building, electrical, gas and plumbing inspections in municipalities which do not have their own accredited inspectors. The firm outlined their services and expressed an interest in signing a contract with the Town to do all inspections in the jurisdiction.

Council was of two minds about the matter, feeling that on one hand, this would ensure all construction was done to one standard, and on the other hand, it would not give people a choice of whom would inspect their projects. A decision does not have to be made immediately, so Council will bring this back to an upcoming meeting.

The Public Works department will be getting a new half-ton truck. Tenders were read, with Council agreeing to the purchase of a 1997 Ford from Zarowny Motors.

All three readings were given to Land Use Bylaw 574/96.

Council also agreed to the customary forgiveness of a portion of taxes for Bill and Pearl Bepalko, and a five month reduction on taxes for a mobile home which was moved out of town.

Council approved that 50 Town pins be given to the Elk Point Community Choir for their Germany Tour.

Elk Point and District Tennis Club will have to submit a statement of their operating income and expensed for the past two years if they want the Town's support on a grant application for sealing of the tennis court surface.

The suite being constructed in the former Nurses' Residence at the Elk Point Health Centre is nearing completion, Council was told. The suite will be furnished very shortly, ready to house a doctor coming to town to relieve Dr. Ramful. Further renovations are proposed for the remainder of the building, including new steps, interior and exterior painting and moving of partitions.

Senior Games, Olympics, recreation and leisure

By Deanna Easthope

FCSS Director

Today, July 16, our seniors are participating in the Alberta Seniors Summer Games in St. Paul. Anyone who is 55 year of age or over is eligible to enter the competitions. These games will carry on until July 19.

Then on Friday, July 19, in Atlanta, the Olympic Games begin with the Opening Ceremony. These Games run until Sunday, August 4. The younger people from all over the world are involved in these competitions.

Of course, for the rest of us — every day we will be spending time with recreation and leisure. We all agree — right?

Did you know that there are benefits in walking? The benefits of walking for older folks are given in this statement from the medical profession: “

Successful aging isn't merely a matter of living longer, but also gaining more healthy years. Much disability among the elderly is due in large part to physical inactivity. When 'maturity' includes healthful lifestyle changes, many of the physical (and mental) ills once blamed completely on aging can be alleviated or postponed. A long term regimen of just two or three brisk 30 minute walks each week, may not only add years to your life, but life to your years.” Vigorous walking is required for maximum benefits.

We all need some sort of physical activity. As we watch the highlights of the Olympics from Atlanta, let us not only admire these top athletes for what they can accomplish — let us think and do some physical activity ourselves. Did you know the Olympus Mount is the highest mountain in Greece? It reaches a height of 9550 feet, and it's summit is snowcapped for most of the year. In Greek mythology, Mount Olympus was the home of the gods; thus the word is often used to indicate heaven.

Likewise, when we participate in some kind of physical activity — recreation and leisure, we are taking ourselves to greater heights. As they say — “Let the Games Begin!”

BABYSITTER COURSE

A second successful babysitting course was held recently with Deanna Fakeley as the instructor. Taking part in the course were: Nicole Routhier, Lesley Lesseur, Maureen Myshaniuk, Kirsty Lindquist, Laci Jacobson, Melvin Easthope, Kim Cote, Melissa Dorey, Michelle Friesen, Kristy Myshaniuk, Kelly Derewynka, Lacy Smith and Jennifer Hanson. Sorry -- our picture did not turn out.

Baptiste wins Stampede chuckwagons

Edgar Baptiste of Duck Lake, SK, won the $50,000 final race at the Calgary Stampede Rangeland Derby on Sunday. Baptiste came into the race in fourth place, but had the speed when it counted to outdistance Dallas Dorchester, Kelly Sutherland and Tyler Helmig in the race.

Parks Day excitement coming to Whitney Lakes

Fun for all is planned for this Saturday, July 20, at Whitney Lakes Provincial Park.

The day will start off with a 2.5 km Scavenger Hunt, beginning at 11:00 a.m. at the Ross Lake group day use area.

At 1:30 p.m., a 5 km hike to the Esker, which is a unique natural feature located at the northwest corner of the park and extending between two arms of Borden Lake, gets underway, starting from the same location. Vehicles will be needed to get you to the trail head, and you are advised to wear sturdy and comfortable footwear and take along drinking water.

At 8:00 p.m., a wildlife interpretive program is scheduled, also at the Ross Lake group day use area. Children, please bring an adult along.

Prizes, draws and a visit from Seemore, the Provincial Parks owl, are also part of the day.

Public Consultation on PROTECTION FOR PERSONS IN CARE ACT (BILL 211)

What: Mrs. Bonnie Laing, MLA for Calgary-Bow, will be leading a discussion on the Protection for Persons in Care Act, an act designed to protect persons residing in lodges, nursing homes, hospitals and other care facilities from abuse.

Where: Chateau Louis Hotel & Convention Centre
11727 Kingsway
Edmonton, Alberta

When: Thursday, July 25 - 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

OR

Where: St. Paul Senior Citizens Club
4809 - 47 Street
St. Paul, Alberta

When: Monday, July 22 - 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Why: The purpose of the consultation is to develop an implementation plan for the act.

Who: These meetings will be of particular interest to groups and individuals who provide services to persons in care or represent persons residing in care facilities.

A discussion paper has been prepared to guide the consultation. It is available by calling Community Development at 427-1072 in Edmonton; outside Edmonton, call 310-0000, and ask to be connected to 427-1072. Registration information is included in the package.

Written submissions are also welcome.

TIC Talk

Running away to the circus

By Sherry Pelech

Tourist Information Clerk

We remember with a nostalgia that is rose-colored by the passing years, the wonders and excitement of the CIRCUS coming to town. We don't remember the dirt or the scruffy animals or the tacky tarnished sequins. We only remember the wonder of the acrobats and the clowns. So it was with great anticipation we went to the Chinese Imperial Circus last Sunday.

The first thing we saw was the miniature horses with their way miniature colts. We don't think these steeds will be pulling chuckwagons too soon. They look more like house pets than livestock.

A magnificent elephant was giving rides to children and it brought back memories of the time when our children were small and our significant other decided to accompany them on an elephant ride. To this day, he winces when he recalls that trip. As he says, he wasn't built to bend that way.

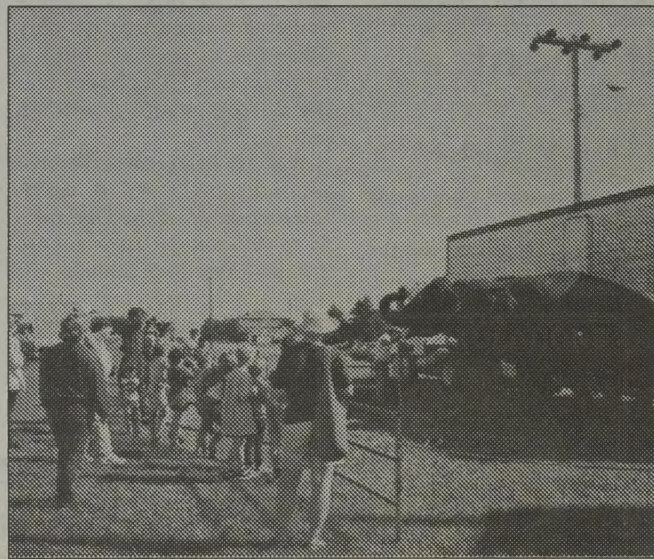

The program itself was an exhibition of grace and beauty and awesome strength. One man stood with six (that's right- six!) people balanced on him. A young woman demonstrated unbelievable control as she spun four pieces of cloth while balanced upside-down on a vase of flowers.

Our favorite has always been the clowns. They entertained us in the international language of humor as two of them squabbled over a chair and juggled bowling balls.

We were treated to displays of the frankly impossible by a young woman who spun a myriad of hoops and a young man who stuffed himself, doubled over, into a narrow barrel. In a by-gone era he could have made a fortune as a chimney sweep.

The costumes were a far cry from the tacky, brief little scraps of cloth and tarnished sequins (two band-aids and a cork is the way they were once described to us) that we remember from past circuses. Each costume seemed a work of art that painted an over-all picture of grace and beauty.

If the circus ever returns to town, we will be overjoyed to "run away to the circus" again.

ELEPHANTS A B-I-G ATTRACTION -- A good contingent of parents and youngsters showed up early Sunday morning to see the Big Top go up. While the elephants are no longer allowed to do that traditional task, they were still the main attraction with those who came to see the circus set up.

Nutrition Notes

Do you feel thirsty?

By Julia Painchaud

Dietician, Elk Point Health Centre

If you do, chances are that you are dehydrated. Humans have a weak thirst response that continues to weaken as we age. This makes elderly people more at risk for dehydration.

Waiting until you are thirsty to drink fluids means your body is already low in fluids. It is important to drink at least 6 to 8 cups of fluid per day. Coffee, tea, cola drinks (ie. Pepsi/Coke), chocolate drinks and other caffeine-containing beverages don't count as they promote dehydration. Water, juice, milk and other non-caffeine drinks help meet daily fluid needs.

Why is it so important to drink enough fluids? Water is an essential nutrient that transports nutrients and waste products to and from cells, regulates body temperature, acts as a medium for life-giving reactions, gives body cells their structure and acts as a lubricant between joints. Increasing fluid intake can help improve bowel regularity, prevent kidney stones, decrease the risk of bladder/kidney infections, aid in weight control and increase alertness.

Having water close by at all times will be a reminder to drink. Remember, when weather gets hotter or activity increases, fluid requirements also increase. So enjoy some water today.

Good luck to our local area competitors at the Alberta Senior Games
in St. Paul this week. Go for the gold!

What's news at the library?

At Camp Readsalot, the fun goes rain or shine

By Michele Ducek
Librarian

As of this writing, Camp Readsalot has not suffered a rainy day. The rain, however, is coming down in buckets as I write this. Rain will not prevent the program from going on indoors at the library. So far nearly 50 children have registered and there is room for more.

Here are even more books for children recently arrived at the library:

Lettering by Amanda Lewis shows you how to make your own cards, signs, gifts and more.

Dear Laura is a collection of letters written by children to one of North America's favorite authors, Laura Ingalls

Wilder.

Hearts of Gold by Sheila Dinn celebrates the Special Olympics, its history, its spirit and its ties to the tradition of the Olympic Games. Dozens of color photographs complement the text.

Gold Fever! by Catherine McMorrow and Michael Eagle tells the story of the California Gold Rush of 1849 and how it transformed the area and the lives of the people involved.

Quack is always the last duckling but one day his slowness pays off in Quick, Quack, Quick! by Marsha Arnold and Lisa McCue, a new book in the Step Into Reading Series.

Another entry in the series is Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Bug by Katherine Ross and Tom Brannon. Big Bird finds a lightening bug and decides to keep it as a pet, only the bug doesn't light up any more.

Emily Elizabeth takes Clifford to the sports day at her school where he participates in several events and makes a great catch in the ball game in Clifford's Sports Day by Norman Bridwell.

Jo Ellen Bogart and Yvonne Cathcart ask the question: How many is too many? in the colorful book Two Too Many.

The special feeling a father has for his son is explored in A Special Kind of Love by Stephen Michael King. (Not the Stephen King that loves to terrify us, but an Australian designer and illustrator).

campfire stories at the Library. Everyone is welcome.

Stampeding into a 35th year at Stoney Lake

NOW SEE HERE, BULL-- Gate man James Harder and bull have a little chat as Leon Myers of Grand Centre does his best to stay aboard the hurricane deck of Les Trach's Grasshopper.

The 34th annual Stoney Lake Stampede was enjoyed by good crowds this past weekend, with the fine bucking stock provided by Les Trach adding to the excitement.

Sunday's performance started and ended with the Bull Riding, but neither of the three contestants who managed to stay aboard the wily stock was able to best Saturday's top mark of 76, turned in by Denny Golden of Mayerthorpe.

Another Mayerthorpe cowboy, Lance Tulloch, claimed the Calf Roping honors with a 9.0 run on Saturday. Sunday's closest effort came from Dick Powell of Wildwood, with a 9.2.

Scott Schiffener of Stettler won the Junior Bull Riding with 67 points, one ahead of Sunday's top ride, a 66 turned in by Aaron Lowen of Ponoka, which put him in a tie for second spot.

Steve Friend of Viking saw a repeat of his 1995 victory in the Steer Wrestling, when he downed his steer in 5.6 seconds on Sunday to edge out Jim Thomas of Indus with a 5.8.

Sunday also was the lucky day for Team Roping twosome Chad and Shane Smith of Battleford, with a 6.8 second run which was far better than Saturday's top 7.5 second effort.

Saturday's leaders hung in to win in the Bareback and Saddle Bronc riding. Dean Cruickshank of Hanna turned in a 73 on 'Hot Chocolate' in the Bareback, while Gordie Lambert of High Level marked 78 on 'Lea Park' in the Saddle Bronc.

There were no qualified rides in Saturday's section on the Novice Horse Riding, leaving a clear field for competitors in the final performance. Peter Dyck of Meadow Lake took the win with a 62 on 'Bugsy Brown,' while CJ Best of Heinsburg was second with a 59 on 'Holy Moses.'

The Junior Barrel Racing saw

the best time turned in by the last competitor of the weekend, a 16.721 by Jerry Stojan of Sexsmith. Jodi Hollingsworth of Valleyview ran a speedy 16.413 to win the Ladies' Barrels.

Sunday also featured some action for the hometown crowd, both youngsters and adults. The Mutton Bustin' saw Jessica Wirsta and Philip Bergeron taking home the trophy buckles, while the Calf Scramble was won by Lyndon Krankowski, with Chris Premak second, Jeffrey Laschowki third and Matt Rose fourth.

Of course, it wouldn't be Stoney Lake Stampede without the unique Steer and Stoneboat Race. When the dust had settled from this hilarious event, Richard Marcoux's team was named the winner.

A Miniature Horse Pull saw John Kiss's tiny team of Mike and Molly, driven by Orest Drobot, lean into their collars to pull a whopping 1280 pounds for the win.

Saddle Slickers 4-H Achievement Day

By Daphne Schnurer

Saddle Slickers 4-H Leader

Elk Point Saddle Slickers 4-H Achievement Day dawned bright and early — too early for some. But nevertheless there were 14 kids and horses looking pretty shiny and well groomed. Our judge, Tom Mireault, had his work cut out for him.

Class placings were as follows:

JUDGING: Sr.: Misty Peterson, Linsey Hines; Jr. A: Ashley Larson, Jamie Schnurer, Joan Wheat, Alexis Hines, Alyssa Fry, Crystal Smith; Jr. B: Megan Parker, Renita Osinchuk, Kate Wheat, Danielle Schnurer, Megan Proski.

When the day's points were added up, Linsey Hines was the Hi Point Senior, with a trophy donated by Bob and Lynde Dybvig of Vermilion, while Misty Peterson was runner-up. The Junior A trophy from Gordon and Joyce Larson went to Ashley Larson, with Jamie Schnurer as runner up, while Danielle Schnurer received the Junior B trophy from Critters, with Megan Parker as runner-up.

The All Around buckle sponsored by Cobra Energy Consultants of Elk Point was brand new this year, and went to Jamie Schnurer. Many different aspects of 4-H were considered to win this award, such as project book, winter projects, attendance and achievement day, as well as cooperation and enthusiasm.

Our Winter Projects winners were Crystal Smith, first and Alexis Hines, runner-up. These give the kids an opportunity to work a complete project themselves. Project books involve not only keeping track of your 4-H project (your horse) and feeding program, but your 4-H year, such as clinics you have attended, horse shows and general 4-H activities. Junior A project book winners were Jamie Schnurer, first and Joan Wheat, runner-up, while Junior B winners were Renita Osinchuk, first and Danielle Schnurer, runner-up.

Denise Laschuk introduced the torch bearers and their support team, and presented a certificate to the Pioneer Circle for their involvement.

Certificates also went to torch bearers Pearl and Bill Bepalko, Florence Demchuk, Edmond and Madeline Faucher, Aime and Gabrielle Foisy, Hazel Hannah, Sid and Muriel Holthe, Eugene and Denise Joly, Irene Krochmal, Simone and Clarence Labrie, Dina Leaf, Lillian and Mike Palinka, Lovette Strynadka, Orville Swedgan, Homer Poitras, Olga Tomkow and John and Mary Kossey. Marge

Osinchuk and Elsie Quickstad, who will compete in the Military Whist category of the Games, were also part of the relay.

The torch support team included Lorraine and Ed Glossop, Richard and Lena Gervais, Ken Peacock, Sid and Muriel Holthe, RCMP officers Dan Barnaby and Dino Zol, and van drivers Gilbert Shantz and Dave Lashuk. Vehicles were provided by Zarowny Motors and St. Paul Sales and Service.

A fine roast beef supper awaited the torch bearers and crew, followed by an exhibition of dancing by Jeannette Frisby and Florence Demchuk, who will compete in the Games.
